Text

I am me.
Who am I?
You are I, I am you.
Your mirror image am I, if I were you.
We are one, we are the same,
We are soul, we are mind.
The shell a vessel and the engine,
it is me.
It is you.
You are I.
I am you.
What does "I" mean?
When you talk to me,
do you really see me?
Because I am not my shell.
I am nothing, even not a face,
not corporeal and transparent.
A kind of energy that controls the vessel.
Connected so strong that if somethings
happens to the shell,
my mind will feel it as well,
since they work together.
But if you die, body and mind will be parted.
Body stays, mind disappears.
but it is my mind that will be remembered.
This is you.
You are I.
I am you.
We are the same.

*I'll be a better man today.
I'll be good, I'll be good
and I'll love the world like I should
I'll be good, I'll be good.
for all of the time
that I never could.*

From this day on, I want to be better.
This resolution is valid for eternity.

People say “do a good deed every day”.
Love your neighbor, even though he has it much better.
Well, there were times, I felt bad
In love, I was unlucky.
But then someday I also understood
Luck needs to go out, so I found rap.
I share my pain with you
open my heart for you
this track is for all who need it.

Way to often a joke gets deadly serious to a point the victim believes being of no value.
I don't ignore it no more.
I rather take action.
I try to change something, cos' we are all one,
not alone, cos' we're all the same,
no matter if we're black or white.

Our time on earth is actually short,
death comes by birth.
The end is an eternal companion.
And if you only care for yourself,
you will often stand alone.
Why noone for all and all for noone?
Children are starving,
cos' the ones with too much don't share.
I am also not perfect,
but I have the aims in sight.
These lyrics are my first step.

*I'll be a better man today.
I'll be good, I'll be good
(if we are black or white))
and I'll love the world like I should
(if we are black or white)
I'll be good, I'll be good.
for all of the time
that I never could.
(if we are black or white)*

I began to write to reach the weak
and bring joy to those who need it.
There are many people in difficult times,
to all of you I dedicate this lines.
Cos' I don't ignore it no more.
I rather take action.
I try to change something, cos' we're all
one,
not alone, cos' we are the same.
no matter if we are black or white.

*I'll be a better man today.
I'll be good, I'll be good
(if we are black or white))
and I'll love the world like I should
(if we are black or white)
I'll be good, I'll be good.
for all of the time
that I never could.
(if we are black or white)*

*I'll be a better man today.
I'll be good, I'll be good
and I'll love the world like I should.
I'll be good, I'll be good.
for all of the time
that I never could.*

It does not just matter, if we are black or white.
It does also not matter, where we are from,
which sexual orientation we have
or as which gender we identify us.
Every human being has the right to equality.
I am Charles Junior and I raise my voice in the name of the project Live Democracy!
against every form of discrimination!
One love, human race
We get together as one!
