Nürnberg, March 11, 2021

Dear Mr Ferencz,

today you are celebrating your 101st birthday. On behalf of the City of Nuremberg and myself, I would like to congratulate you cordially!

In autumn 1947, it was here in Nuremberg where you initiated the “biggest murder trial in human history” and prosecuted some of the chief perpetrators of the Holocaust. Your son Donald was born here in Nuremberg. 62 years after you had entered the stage of world history, you came back to the very same courtroom and did us a great honor by opening the Memorium Nuremberg Trials with a speech. Again, last year you enriched the commemorative act for the 75th anniversary of the beginning of the Nuremberg Trials with an impressive video message. Your professional as well as your personal life is thus closely connected to Nuremberg. As Lord Mayor of the City of Nuremberg, it is therefore my pleasure and honor to send you these birthday greetings from the city that you are so very important for.

I wish you all the best, happiness, satisfaction and, of course, good health for you and your whole family!

Yours sincerely,

Marcus König
